Biographical Note:

H. Brownell Wheeler, a vascular surgeon, was the first faculty member and first department chair to be hired by the University of Massachusetts Medical School. As right-hand man to founding Dean Lamar Soutter, Wheeler played an essential role in the school's early development and maturation. Known as “Brownie” to friends and colleagues, Dr. Wheeler was born July 21, 1929 in Louisville, Kentucky. He graduated from Vanderbilt University in 1948 and received his medical degree from Harvard University in 1952. He completed his surgical training as an intern at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital (now Brigham and Women’s Hospital) in Boston from 1952 to 1953 and continued his training as a resident at West Roxbury Veterans Administration Hospital from 1955 to 1959. Dr. Wheeler’s training also included fellowships at Harvard as a Harvey Cushing Fellow in 1953 and as a George Gorham Peters Fellow from 1956 to 1957. From 1956 to 1957 he also had a fellowship at St. Mary’s Hospital in London, England and was a United States Public Health Service Trainee at Harvard from 1959 to 1960. Dr. Wheeler served in the military as a First Lieutenant in the U.S. Army Medical Corps, Korean Service, from 1953 to 1955.

Along with a faculty appointment at Harvard Medical School from 1961 to 1972, where he became Associate Professor of Surgery in 1970, Dr. Wheeler held hospital appointments at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital from 1959 to 1972, and West Roxbury Veterans Administration Hospital from 1960 to 1971. During his tenure at the Veterans Administration Hospital he was Chief of Surgery and Program Director of Residency Training in Surgery from 1962 to 1971 and was the hospital's Chief of Staff from 1968 to 1971. In 1966, early in his career, Dr. Wheeler was asked by Dr. Lamar Soutter, founding Dean of the University of Massachusetts Medical School, to act as a consultant in planning the new medical school and to become the Founding Chair of its Department of Surgery. Dr. Wheeler accepted Dr. Soutter's proposition and, with keen interest and enthusiasm for building the new medical school, he balanced his surgical and teaching responsibilities with the duties of his new position. The medical school opened in 1970 and in 1971 Dr. Wheeler and his family, including his wife Elizabeth Jane (Maxwell) and children Stephen, Elizabeth, Jane, and Mary, moved to Worcester. With this move Dr. Wheeler successfully combined his role as Professor and Chair of the Department of Surgery at the medical school with that of Chief of Surgery and Program Director of Residency Training in Surgery at Saint Vincent Hospital, a position he held from 1971 until 1976 when the new University of Massachusetts Hospital opened. Dr. Wheeler held many positions involved in establishing the medical school including being a member of the Medical School Executive Council. He chaired several committees including the Educational Policy Committee, the Group Practice Advisory Committee, the Animal Laboratory Committee, and the Search Committees for the first Chairs of the Departments of Radiology, Anesthesiology, Neurosurgery, Urology, and Ophthalmology. In recognition of his dedicated service to the medical school, Dr. Wheeler was awarded the University Medal for Outstanding Service in 1984.

Dr. Wheeler also played a vital role in the planning and construction of the hospital and the development of its policies and by-laws. From 1974 to 1976 he was the hospital's first Chief of Staff and also served as Founding Chair of the Hospital Executive Committee. With the opening of the hospital in 1976 he continued to hold various leadership positions such as Chair of the Operating Room Committee and Chair of the Operating Room Executive Committee. Dr. Wheeler served as the elected representative of the Medical Staff Executive Committee on the Hospital Management Board and was the Group Practice representative to the Hospital Special Advisory Committee.

A gifted and well respected surgeon, Dr. Wheeler not only developed the Department of Surgery at the University of Massachusetts Medical School, he also directed an integrated surgical residency program that included the University of Massachusetts Hospital, Saint Vincent Hospital, Worcester City Hospital, and Worcester Memorial Hospital. Appointed the Harry M. Haidak Distinguished Professor of Surgery in 1985, his medical interests focused on surgical education, vascular surgery, deep vein thrombosis, pulmonary embolism, and non-invasive diagnosis of vascular disease, subjects on which he lectured and wrote extensively. Dr. Wheeler's prominence in the field of surgery led to his being elected President of the Worcester Surgical Society, the New England Society for Vascular Surgery, the New England Surgical Society, and the Boston Surgical Society. He was a director of the American Board of Surgery from 1984 to 1990, President of the Worcester District Medical Society, and a member of many other prestigious organizations including the American College of Surgeons, the Society of University Surgeons, and the Massachusetts Medical Society.

Dr. Wheeler's interest in the collaboration of science and technology and their application to patient care led to his patenting several inventions including the occlusive impedance phlebograph. He helped found and was Executive Director of the Center for Advanced Clinical Technology at the University of Massachusetts Medical Center and Co-Director of the UMass/Smith & Nephew Center for Research in Endoscopic Surgery. He was Chairman of High Technology Alternatives to Surgery at the University of Massachusetts Medical School and Hospital and also held an appointment as Affiliate Professor of Biomedical Engineering at WPI (formerly, Worcester Polytechnic Institute).

In addition to his work as a respected vascular surgeon, educator, scientist, and administrator, Dr. Wheeler's interests extended to medical humanities including ethics and the history of medicine, and medical humanism issues of end-of-life care, empathy, and the doctor-patient relationship. He was selected by the Massachusetts Medical Society as the prestigious Centennial Shattuck Lecturer in 1990 and upon retiring from surgical practice in 1996 Dr. Wheeler focused on ways to improve patient care, particularly care at the end of life. He was instrumental in developing a medical school course on end-of-life care and became Chair of the Worcester District Medical Society's Committee to Improve End-of-Life Care. This led to the creation of the Central Massachusetts Partnership to Improve End-of-Life Care which won the national 2003 Award of Excellence for best emerging end-of-life coalition from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. Dr. Wheeler was founding President of the Massachusetts Compassionate Care Coalition from 2001 to 2004 and Chair of the University of Massachusetts Medical Center's Working Group to Improve End-of-Life Care. He was also Chair of the Advisory Board of Hospice of Central Mass, Inc. and was a member of its Board of Directors.

Dr. Wheeler was the recipient of numerous awards including the 2002 A. Jane Fitzpatrick Community Service Award from the Worcester District Medical Society and the 2005 Lifetime Achievement Award from the Massachusetts Medical Society. In 2014 he was awarded an honorary degree from the University of Massachusetts Medical School. Along with his outstanding contributions to the University of Massachusetts Medical School and his considerable professional involvement in medicine, Dr. Wheeler pursued his interest in art and travel. He was a wood sculptor and exhibited some of his work in art exhibits at the medical school. He and his wife also traveled extensively and hiked in such places as Tibet, Nepal, Italy, and Greece.
