The Library at Work: Cultivating both Mind and Spirit

Resource Maximization

In response to user requests for increased electronic resources and additional study space, the library converted the majority of the print journal collection to electronic-only format, maintaining a core print collection of 260 titles. The library designed a customized text publication of dissertations (NLM Contract No. N01-8-6936), which highlight the work of individual faculty and researchers, from GSBS and GSN, 4/30/11, $6.2 million. Elaine R. Martin, principal investigator, Donna Ard Glew, MD, of Internal Medicine. The Rare Book and Manuscript Library received a wonderful collection of materials to feature on the Library's website. The Office of Medical History and Archives (OMHA) is the official voice of the medical school. It’s history is the story of the health care system, and its role in Massachusetts. The OMHA is responsible for preserving UMass Medical School's history and sharing it with the public.

Scholarship@UMMS

eclipsogroup@UMMS is a digital active offering worldwide access to the scholarly publications of University of Massachusetts Medical School (UMMS) faculty, staff, researchers, and students. The goal is to bring together all of the University's research under one umbrella, showcase, preserve, and provide access to that research. The archive was launched in FY08 and grew significantly in FY2010. The repository now has a significant milestone in FY2010 by reaching 180,000 full-text downloads on April 6. The most downloaded documents on the above include:

- NN/LM, NER, 4/30/11, $50,000. Elaine R. Martin, principal investigator. Donna Ard Glew, MD, of Internal Medicine.
