We are happy to help you find health information resources. However, we cannot answer questions about medical cases or give specific medical advice; we are not physicians, nurses, or pharmacists.

LoansomeDoc is Gone—Impact?

DOCLINE 6.0—How's it going?

The screenshot shows the NNLM website header with navigation links for 'REGIONS | OFFICES | HELP' and a search bar. Below the header is a navigation menu with 'NDCO HOME', 'About NDCO', and 'Training'. The main content area features a large banner for 'Recording of April DOCLINE Talkline Webinar Now Available!' with presenters Erin Latta and Lis Unger. A 'DOCLINE Youtube Channel' link is provided. To the right, a large graphic reads 'What's New? DOCLINE 6' with 'DOCLINE Talkline' below it. Below the banner are 'View' and 'Revisions' buttons. The footer contains three boxes: 'Need a Refresher? New User? DOCLINE', 'Path to the redesigned DOCLINE' with a 'DOCLINE 6.0 is NOW LIVE!' tagline, and 'National DOCLINE Coordination Office' with a 'Follow NDCO's Blog' link.

New PubMed (early 2020)—Concerns?

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar of the NIH website, including the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services logo and the NIH U.S. National Library of Medicine logo. A search bar labeled "Search NLM" is visible. Below the navigation bar are four menu items: "PRODUCTS AND SERVICES", "RESOURCES FOR YOU", "EXPLORE NLM", and "GRANTS AND FUNDING". The breadcrumb trail reads "Home > Training & Outreach > Learning Resources". The main content area features a video player titled "PubMed Update: MLA 2019". The video player includes a play button and the following text: "Kathi Canese • Marie Collins" and "MLA • May 5, 2019 • Chicago, IL". At the bottom of the video player is the NIH logo and the text "U.S. National Library of Medicine National Center for Biotechnology Information".

In this 45-minute presentation, Marie Collins with Kathi Canese of the National Center for Biotechnology Information, National Library of Medicine present the new features of the new PubMed interface.

Not NLM, but... EFTS and MLA

- EFTS—UConn Health unable to continue operation as of 12/31/2019
- 400 respondents to May 2019 survey indicated a willingness to accept updated fee structure + one-time registration fee to support cost of developing a new platform.
- Medical Library Association, in collaboration with UConn Health and the National Library of Medicine, is developing upgraded technical specifications and a business model.
- NLM's role relates to data-sharing.
- Assuming the development of a high-quality, cost-effective and sustainable solution, MLA will provide EFTS services in the future.

Document Delivery Workflow Chart

- Think about your document delivery workflow
- 12-year old workflow to get your ideas flowing
- Three charts:
 - Patron Process: Requesting a Document
 - Library Process: Receiving a Request
 - Library Process: Delivering a Document
- Start with 5-minutes of individual work
- After 5 minutes, opportunity to work with a partner, in small groups, or continue on your own for another 5-10 minutes.

Patron Process: Requesting a Document
