The Role of the Library in the Research Enterprise
Christopher J. Shaffer
Oregon Health & Science University, Portland, OR, USA

Abstract
Libraries have provided services to researchers for many years. Changes in technology and new publishing models provide opportunities for libraries to be more involved in the research enterprise. Within this article, the author reviews traditional library services, briefly describes the eScience and publishing landscape as it relates to libraries, and explores possible library programs in support of research. Many of the new opportunities require new partnerships, both within the institution and externally.

Introduction
Data collection, management, and analysis technologies are changing the landscape of research. Digital technologies, from sensors
